

OBITUARIES OF BURLINGTON PEOPLE

Bold print indicated obits that I copied personally, mostly in full.

(compiled by L.Alderman, revised updated, 10-19-2006

These obituaries have been accumulated, hoping that they will be helpful genealogically. Also to provide some knowledge of earlier Burlington residents.

They have been obtained mostly from newspaper clippings in old scrap books. If the newspaper name was available, that also was included. Also I have added much more information to them over the years such as full dates, full names and relationships, etc.

There are bound to be errors. I would be glad to correct any to keep the record straight. Also would welcome more additions of Burlington people.

BARNES CHARLES L. of this city is best known to the public as "Barnes the Wood Man," a name revered by all dutiful husbands whose exacting wives required them to prepare breakfast kindlings ere the blessed name of Barnes became a household word.

Barnes was born in Burlington, CT in 4-13-1859 and when 21 years of age was conducting a wholesale wood business in Unionville. In 1885 he sold out, came to New Britain and accepted a position in the Stanley Works, but gave this up to go to TX and engage in cattle raising on Eagle Lake.

Barnes had beautiful luck as a rancher. Almost his first nice experience was while riding about the prairie, watching the cattle one day, to draw a bead with his Winchester on a prairie hen. The report of his gun startled the horse, who threw Barnes off his back and started off. To see a man walking over the prairie was a new sight to the cattle and they crowded from all sides around Barnes and it was only by the hardest work that he escaped being trampled to death by them.

Seeing no prospective profit in cattle raising, he conceived the idea of a geese farm and laid out $150 in procuring a fine flock. The first night the geese were on the ranch the wolves made a descent on them and carried off all but two. Determined to get even with the wolves he sprinkled meat with poison and scattered it in their way. Two of his best dogs, valued at $75 each found it before the wolves did, and promptly turned up their toes.

Finally Barnes got sick, very sick, and had the closest kind of a call to sit somewhere on the edge of a damp cloud and twang a harp by moonlight. When he was able to sit up he had to get over into the health-restoring atmosphere of San Antonio and stay for several months and give up all ideas of cattle raising.

Then he wandered from Dan to Beersheba through the western country, his Yankee ingenuity being taxed to its utmost by having to turn his hand to many occupations. We find him a teamster in St. Louis, a roustabout on a Mississippi steamboat, a lumberman in Minnesota, a miner and a homesteader at Bismarck in Dakota, an assistant in the government survey of the Bad Lands, a farm hand and a railroad brakeman, in Illinois, a contractor in an Ohio factory, and finally back again in New Britain in the Stanley Works. All this teeth-sharpening experience done Barnes good and laid the foundation for his present magnificent success as the "Wood Man".

It is only a year ago in July that he bought out the wood business carried on for twenty years by Uncle Horace Booth in Lafayette street. He has extended the business and sells about ten times as much wood as Mr. Booth ever did. Few people suspect the amount of wood he handles. Just at present he has over 600 cords stored in three different places in New Britain. He buys much of his father, who owns a saw mill and 10,000 cords of standing wood in Hartford county.

Barnes has added to the wood business he bought of Booth several kinds of kindlings, coal, charcoal, baled hay and straw and in all of these lines is gaining every day. The public is finding out that Barnes deals on the square and gives full measure, full weight of all he sells.

Our advice to readers who do not know Barnes is to scrape acquaintance with him by patronizing him. Burial in Center Cemetery, Burlington, CT.

BARNES, CHARLES LINDSAY, 67, of 100 Wooster Street, Barnesdale, one of the most prominent business men in this city, died 11-20-1926. #### VET HAD PASSION FOR FLAG ETIQUETTE

By Don Stacom, HC, 8-19-2003

When the American flag is displayed against a wall, do the stars go on the right side or the left?

What's the proper procedure when two people are folding a flag? And how about tattered or torn flags -- is there a correct way to retire them?

The answers to those questions were deeply important to the late John Cochran, a Korean War veteran from Burlington who spent many of his retirement years trying to educate people about flags and flag etiquette.

In his memory, a Massachusetts-based American Veterans of World War II, Korea and Vietnam post will sponsor flag education programs in several New England public schools this year.

Cochran, who died two years ago at 66, had been close friends with the commander of Amvets Post 12 in Chicopee, Mass., according to his brother, Don Cochran of Burlington.

Post 12 has been selling flags since April to raise money for a flag education campaign, and announced this week that it will sponsor a number of New England schools to participate in a training program run by the National Flag Foundation. The goal is to educate young people about the correct way to display and care for an American flag.

John Cochran, who was stationed in Japan during his service in the Air Force, later worked for the Farmington school system. He felt strongly that Americans should know the correct rules for handling their flag.

"He had a need to spread flag etiquette. He went about it tooth and nail," said Don Cochran, a Vietnam War veteran who holds vigils to publicize the campaign to remember U.S. prisoners of war and servicemen missing in action.

"John got interested in the vigils to keep people aware of the fact that sometimes people go to war and don't come back. But his real specialty was flag etiquette," Don Cochran said.

A comprehensive list of flag-handling rules can be found at the foundation's website, www.americanflags.org.

Below is a letter Jeff wrote shortly before his death.

WORDS OF GRATITUDE FROM JEFFREY CZOPOR

These words of gratitude were received from Jeff on December 3rd. They were shared with the worshipping community on that first Sunday of Advent. It is Jeffrey's wish that they be shared with everyone through this newsletter. Jeff continues on his way to renewed health as we continue to hold he and his family in our prayers.

Dear Friends,

Considering November 27 was the one year anniversary of my cancer diagnosis, I have spent this past week counting and contemplating upon the many blessings that have been bestowed upon me.

ABOVE ALL else I am most grateful for the tremendous support system that has perpetually surrounded me every step of the way; many of whom are individuals and families of this congregation. Your phone calls, memos, letters, holiday cards, homemade cards and visits ceased to ever halt at any point during this past year -I was forever reminded that I was never alone.

Furthermore, I am thankful that I have continually been uplifted in prayer -and indeed, I have felt those prayers from all angles. I only ask that they continue as I am currently going through the biggest transition I have yet faced -the post Bone Marrow Transplant phase.

I would like to share with you an experience that demonstrates God's awesome power, as it is our duty to share these events when we bear direct witness to them.

On the day before I was supposed to start the initial medications in preparation for the transplant, I received news from my doctor that a CT scan reading taken that morning showed an image which appeared to be an unidentifiable mass -something that wasn't there on a previous scan.

Although it could be a number of things, they obviously couldn't rule out it being cancer without doing a biopsy. My doctor was gracious but did indicate that the transplant would be on hold further until determination. Essentially, a new mass would indicate that my body had not fully responded to the chemotherapy I had gotten several weeks earlier.

Other professionals in the office approached the situation rather solemnly as if preparing me for the worst. I had prepared myself psychologically for the transplant for weeks and now the rug seemed to be pulled right from under me. Additionally, I was given ample time to fret as the biopsy couldn't be performed for another four days due to tight scheduling problems.

Of course, I freaked out a bit as us humans with challenging diseases should at times. I went home, had a good cry and decided that the only way to get through the next several days was to somehow revolutionize the approach to facing my fears and how this impacted my relationship with God.

Although I had been the recipient of many prayers and had prayed during the entire extent of my illness, I had always regarded my situation with some ounce of old-fashioned skepticism. Translation - I trusted God's power but had never given my faith and fears COMPLETELY over to Him. But now, in the biggest decision that was ever to effect my life, I decided it might be worth a try to do this.

During the weekend previous to the biopsy, I called a number of friends and family asking for their support and prayers. Instead of asking them to ask God to MAKE EVERYTHING PERFECT (i.e., please, please don't let it be cancer), I asked everyone to give me the strength to hand the situation completely over to God and to put MY FAITH in his ability to allow me to handle the reality of whatever was to happen. Once this was done, to grant me a sense of calm and peace.

The next day, I felt as if giant weights had been lifted off my shoulders. Although I occasionally thought about the upcoming biopsy, my mind seemed more prone to contemplate other things. On the day of the biopsy, I felt remarkably refreshed.

Still worried around the edges, however, I spent the 3 hours previous to the procedure (while receiving a plasma transfusion) in prayer. Having found in a special prayer book words that continually reminded me of God's everlasting presence and ability to renew the mind, bodying so - I repeated the following several times as if a mantra.

INTO YOUR HANDS I COMMEND MY SPIRIT, SOUL AND BODY WHICH YOU HAVE CREATED, REDEEMED, RENEWED. O LORD, O GOD OF TRUTH, AS YOU HAVE CREATED AND RENEWED ALL THAT I POSSESS AND ALL THAT I LOVE,

Never before had I felt so completely invigorated by anything, so much that it far exceeded what it insinuated. Often we hear the words but only half believe them. Resting quite comfortably on the biopsy table, I stared at the ceiling with a serenity that is quite inexplicable. I remember smiling as a little voice in my head said "Have no fear" you will be out of here before you know it".

Within moments, one of the surgeons came over and asked (as if a joke) "what side of the abdomen is this mass supposed to be on, the left?" "No, the right," I responded, the other player of our newly-formed vaudeville act, He went back over to the scanner and consulted for a few minutes with the other doctor. I continued to lie on the table fearlessly.

"So, do you want the bad news or good news first?" he questioned, "The bad news," I responded quickly, "Well, the bad news is we have wasted your time today...The good news is whatever was there is now gone, or at least vanished from the scanner,"

Of course, there are not big enough words to describe how it is to be the recipient of such miracles but I will say this! When they do happen, don't forget to share them and forever praise God's abilities in thanksgiving. After all, that is an equal part of the giving it over to God theory.

GILL, DAVID, 80; The house owned by Clarence Case, which was occupied by C.H. Johnson, situated about two miles east of Burlington, was destroyed by fire about midnight last Sunday. David Gill, age 80 years, perished in the flames. The inmates were Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Johnson, two children and David Gill, father of Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Johnson and the children were with some difficulty removed from the house, while Mr. Johnson went to the upper floor to rescue Mr. Gill. He aroused the aged man and started him down stairs, while he entered another room, for some purpose. On reaching the ground Mr. Johnson discovered that old Mr. Gill was missing. It was too late to search for him by this time the flames had enveloped the house. Mr. Gill must have become dazed and losing his way wandered into a side-room. The charred remains were discovered the next morning in the ruins of the dwelling.

TOWN MOURNS THE DEATH OF ARTHUR J.HORN.

Arthur Julius Horn, widely known and universally respected athlete of the Farmington Valley, who had been seriously ill at St. Frances Hospital since July 1, passed away last Friday, October 23.

He was stricken while pitching for the Collinsville ball team last June 31, grew steadily worse through the night, and was taken to St. Francis Hospital the following day. While at first some hope was held out for his ultimate recovery, he sunk steadily during the past three weeks. Passing away while in a coma.

The body lay in state at the Charles H.Vincent funeral home in Collinsville from Saturday afternoon until the funeral Tuesday evening, during which time hundreds of his friends from every section of the Farmington Valley and other sections of the state called to pay tribute to his memory.

The funeral was held from the Vincent home Tuesday with a requiem high mass at St. Patrick's Church at 9:00. The church was packed to overflowing, and the beautiful floral tributes banked the whole interior. Bearers were Kenneth Bar?eleau, Edward Leahy, Herman Kauttu, Paul Kobza, Cashmir Zsydlo and Cecil Buxton. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Horn leaves his widow, the former Catherine Jackson of Collinsville, two brothers, James of Newington and Julius of Southbury and one sister, Mrs. Arnold Gillette of Bristol.

The son of the late Julius and Minnie Scheidel Horn, he was born in Burlington in the home now occupied by his uncle and aunt, Mr. & Mrs. George Scheidel, Sr. He attended the Fourth District School, and participated in local athletics from his early teens. He pitched for the Collinsville ball team for 20 years since the team was first organized. He was a star bowler, and had been a member of both the Burlington and Collinsville teams in the Farmington Valley Bowling League.

He lived with his uncle and aunt until his marriage five years ago, and had been employed by W.H.Hartigan of Burlington since he left school. He passed away on his fifth wedding anniversary, Oct. 25. He was a member of Waquaheag Tribe, ?ORM, the fish and Game Club, and was a member of St. Patrick's Church.

Noted for his kindness and fine sportsmanship, Mr. Horn's host of friends are united in mourning his untimely passing at a relative early age. He would have been 39 years old, Nov. 3. (FVH 10-31-1946)

I'd love to see it sometime. I probably didn't save it because we were so devastated by his death. He was like a brother to me and to all of us. And his illness so awful when he lay in the hospital for, I think, 190 days just starving to death and unable to speak. Only his occasional tears let us know he recognized us. H. (Comment from Helen Mullen)

Also a poem entitled "life" written by Arza and dedicated to his sister was read:

To spend one quiet hour with God above
To learn to help whom He would have me love
Ne'er from the Cross-marked road to rove
This is to live.

To listen to his voice at break of day
To answer none who call a sullen nay
To gently lift the fallen from the way
This is to live.

To give to Him not less than all my might
To ever keep my feet in paths of right
To help some wanderer find the light
This is to live.

To me to live is not to live for me
But just to live and pray that He
His "Inasmuch" shall some day speak to me
And smile evening falls
This is to live.

Buried in Center Cemetery, Burlington, CT.

KRAPPATSCH, MATILDA S. 75, (1847, 6-20-1923) died this past week recalls how one can live a considerable portion of ones life in the big city and yet come to love the country far better, for many years prior to coming to Burlington, Mrs.Krappatsch lived in New York City and yet she found life's happiest existence on a farm located on a back road, with no traffic, at least one-half mile from Whigville Center. She became exceedingly fond of this home surrounded by woods on all sides and could have told many that life's best is not to be found in the nervous frivolity of the city but in the quiet of the country where one comes closest to all that nature's God has provided. So dearly did Mrs. Krappatsch love the town of Burlington that in her last years she often stated that she did not wish to be buried in Bristol where other members of the family had a burial lot, but in the Milford Street cemetery in Burlington, where she was laid to rest. Burlington truly had a loyal daughter in Matilda Krappatsch, one who loved the old town with a loyalty not often met with. Farmington Valley Herald-6-28-1923.

The burial of Mrs. Krappatsch at the Lamson Corner Cemetery calls attention to the fact that there are but three vacant lots in the whole cemetery and there would not be that many but for the fact that families to whom they were assigned have moved away without ever making any use of the lots. The cemetery is kept in good condition for a country cemetery and is in charge of Sherman B.Scoville. The ancestors of several prominent families he buried here. At one time a Methodist Church stood near this cemetery but later it was moved to Burlington Center and when still later the Protestant population of the town was not large enough to support two churches, the Methodist Church was sold to the town and has been for many years the Burlington town hall.

It is always a good sign to see a town interested in keeping up its old cemeteries. In these graveyards lie many who have made valuable contributions to the town's life in the past and they deserve in their last resting place the care and gratitude which coming generations can give if they but give a little thought to such matters. (The Methodist Episcopal Church stood in what is now that cemetery, was moved to the Center in 1836.-L.R.A.)

LOWREY, WILLIAM. The following is an exact copy of a clipping received by his brother, Mr. Hiram P.Lowrey in regard to the death of William Lowrey; Chehales, Wash. March 25. Begging piteously for his fellow workers to kill him and end his sufferings, William Lowrey yesterday afternoon died after enduring two hours and a half of the most awful agony. The frightful accident occurred at the logging camp of Ed. Eastman on Deep Creek. Lowrey was in charge of a donkey engine which was being moved across the creek. A stringer of the bridge gave way, overturning the machine and Lowrey was caught underneath in such a way that it was utterly impossible for his companions to extricate him. With his back squarely against the boiler Lowrey was slowly cooked to death. He made a hard fight to drown himself in the waters of the creek. When the accident first occurred, his head was under water for twenty minutes, but his companions succeeded in raising it above the water surface and held it there despite his efforts to free himself and drown. Every possible effort was made by the fifteen fellow workers to rescue Lowrey, but nothing they could do would budge the engine. Lowrey was conscious to the last and gave the men his dying requests. He was one of the best known and most popular engineers in the state. For a number of years he resided in Centralia and was engineer on the Northern Pacific on the main line between Tacoma and Ellensburg. He was 43 years of age.(Bristol Press, 4-20-1905) Burial in Lamson Corner Cemetery, Burlington, CT.

PECK, CHARLES D. 73, Proprietor of the C.D.Peck Grocery Store in Burlington for 35 years died. He retired from the business in 1956. Born in Milton 12-12-1887, he was the son of Lucius B. and Anna Clark Peck. He served in the army in WW 1. He is survived by his wife Hattie Steward Peck of Harwinton, a brother, Henry L. and a sister, Mrs. Clara A.Shirlock, both of Torrington. Burial in Goshen Cemetery, Goshen, CT.

PECK, DON EVARISTO, was born in Whigville seventy-two years ago on 4-25-1823. In 1846 he was married to Miss Mary Yale, while residing in Bristol. He returned to Whigville and for nearly forty years was engaged in the manufacture of sleds and carriages, and in general wood turning business. Several years ago he retired from manufacturing and devoted himself to his fine farm, always having had a liking for agriculture. He made his farm one of the best for market gardening in this vicinity. Mr. Peck's business life extended over a wonderful period in American history, the era of the rapid and marvelous extension of manufacturing and industrial enterprises. He took a deep interest in this progress and kept well informed in matters pertaining to it, as well as in affairs generally. But he did not permit his business to claim all his energy, for he always took a keen, active and intelligent part in local affairs, being recognized as a very public spirited man who believed in and worked for progress in education and other departments of human endeavor. He gave his aid and encouragement to the building of the Whigville schoolhouse, which is much better than the average in outlying districts, and always evinced a strong desire for the welfare of the school. For a long term he was a deacon in the Congregational church of Burlington, and later become a member of the Bristol church.

He always had a fondness for politics, being first a Whig and then a Republican. He held quite a number of local offices, all of which he filled in a most satisfactory manner, but he cared more for the best interests of his party than for personal success and honors. The Grange, also found in him a loyal and enthusiastic member.

It is the testimony of all who knew him that he was a man of high character, good judgment and sterling integrity, an active, earnest citizen, and a loyal friend. His family relations were especially pleasant and lovable. He leaves to mourn for him a wife who is in feeble health, two sons, Mr. B. A. Peck, of the firm of Terry & Peck, Mr. D. C. Peck, of Whigville, who recently returned from a residence of nine years in Chicago, Mrs. F. L. Gaylord of Ansonia, and Miss L. L. Peck, a teacher of elocution in Smith College for thirteen years past. (Bristol Press, 6-27-1895) Mr. Peck died 6-21-1895. Burial at Lamson Corner Cemetery, Burlington, CT.

PECK, LUDELLA L. Miss, 58, died in Ansonia 1-10-1913 at the home of her sister, Mrs. F.L.Gaylord. He is survived by his wife, Florence Beamish Stone, a daughter, Mrs. Roy Holtman of Kensington; a grandson, Curtis Stone Holtman, a brother, Elbert Jay Stone of Bristol. Burial in West Cemetery, Bristol, CT.

STONE, JOHN MARK, The sudden death of John M. Stone (7-10-1917) at his corner home at Lewis Corner came as a shock to his many friends and acquaintance when they learned of it today. Mr. Stone worked as usual yesterday and when he retired at night appeared to be in his customary good health. In the night he had an attack of heart trouble, which he was occasionally subject to. His physician, Dr. Spring was summoned, and in the meantime such remedies as were available were restored for they were of no avail and death came very quickly. Mr. Stone was 45 years of age, having been born in the town of Farmington, 4-25-1872, the son of Mark B. and Emily Stone. In early childhood the family moved to Whigville, living in the house which has since become the summer home of William L.Neubauer of this city. Here he received his education in the public school and lived until young manhood, when he obtained work in Bristol and took up his residence in this city. He was married in 1897 to Miss Jennie Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis and thereafter made his home with ---. For a good many years he has been employed in the automatic department of the movement shop of the E.Ingraham Clock Company. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias, and an attendant of the Congregational Church. Having spent nearly his entire life in this section he was well known in Bristol. His quiet, genial friendly disposition won for him many friends will keenly regret his untimely decease. He was a faithful and devoted husband and father, and his fine qualities of heart and disposition combined with integrity of character placed him high in the esteem of all who knew him. Of his survivors are his father, Mark B.Stone, now residing in Plainville, his two brothers, Edward, recently moved to Morris Cove, and Hubert of Forestville; by a sister, Mrs. Chas. Norton of Forestville and a half sister, Mrs. Charles Gaylord of Burlington Ave. and Amy his wife and 12 year old son, George. The funeral arrangements are in charge of E.H.Funck. The service will be held at the house Thursday at 2:20 and it is expected in the absence of the Rev. Mr. Wismer, that Rev. Henry S.Still of the Forestville M.E. Church will officiate. Members of the Knights of Pythias will act as bearers. Interment will take place in West Cemetery, Bristol, CT. Card of Thanks; We wish to thank everyone for their kindness after the death of our father and grandfather, for the beautiful flowers sent, and to the Masonic Order for their presence at the funeral service.

STONE, WILLIAM, 82, An old resident of Burlington, committed suicide by opening the radial artery in his arm. (8-11-1890) He had been a victim of rheumatism for a number of years, using two canes to get around. He lived with his son John, whose wife, a capable woman, died very suddenly a week since, and it was the depression that doubtless caused the old man to take his life. Mr. Stone was born in Harwinton but had lived the greater part of his life on his farm in the southwest corner of Burlington. Mr. Stone was the father of 11 children, 10 living, five boys and five girls. His wife died many years ago and his eldest boy died on "Hart's Island" in the time of the last war while in the service of the government. Burial at Lamson Corner Cemetery, Burlington, CT.

STREET, ELIZABETH, (Luby) 56, wife of Benjamin Street of 48 Lincoln St. died 9-27-1952 in New Britain Hospital. SZYDLO, HENRY VICTOR, 92, of Burlington, husband of Yadga (Volovski) Szydlo, died Wednesday, (February 11, 2004) at home. He was born July 10, 1911 in Burlington, one of eight children to the late Stanislaw and Apolonia (Zima) Szydlo, and had lived in Burlington all his life. He attended Sand Bank Hill School in Burlington and was a graduate Collinsville High School. He attended Morse Business College, studying Business Administration and Accounting, and LaSalle Extension University of Chicago for Traffic and Transportation. Throughout his working career, Henry was employed by Hartford Engineering, Colonial Gesso Beacon Oil Company, Scott Furriers, General Cigar, American Agricultural Chemical Company, Kerr McGee Chemical Company and retired from Charles W. House in Unionville. His employment included traffic management, office management, tobacco buyer, credit management and cost accounting. Henry also completed tax returns for individuals and businesses for 75 years. He was most proud of his commitment to the town of Burlington where his service to the town of Burlington began in his youth, by keeping two stove fires going, chopping wood and carting coal throughout the school year at Sand Bank Hill School. In 1934, at the age of 23, he became a Justice of the Peace, trying numerous cases over the next 46 years. He was the first trial justice of Burlington, beginning in 1939 and continued through 1949. Henry served as chairman of the Jury Commission for over 15 years, was a member of the Burlington Land Committee, president of the Burlington Young Republican Club and served as a member of the Republican Town Committee for 25 years and was a delegate to several Republican conventions. He proudly chaired the Town Meeting that first brought zoning to the town and as proudly was a charter member of the Burlington Volunteer Fire Department, having led the fight to give the old Burlington Town Hall to the Fire Department. In addition, Henry served as a member of the Board of Education, chairing the meeting that brought the Lake Garda School to fruition. Henry was an antiques enthusiast and enjoyed sharing stories with friends and family. One of his most recent quotes, "The worst thing about being 90 is remembering too damn much," brought another round of tales! Henry will be sorely missed by his wife Yadga, with whom he shared his life for 63 years. He also leaves his children, Mary Ann Hayes and husband John, Gregory Szydlo and wife Perri, Jon Szydlo, Elizabeth Case and husband Dennis, and Christine Hardiman and husband Donald. He was blessed with his grandchildren, Gretchen Hayes and her husband H.Taylor Dang, Kristen Sorrells and husband Greg, Katy Hayes, Michael, Matthew and Melissa Szydlo, Brian Case and wife Carrie, Jennifer Case, Christian and Nahla Williams, Andrew and Kiersten Williams, Amanda and Michael Coladonato, Meghan and Casey Hardiman; and three great grandchildren, Aria and Aidan Dang and Samia Williams. UPSON ANDREW S. was born 6-16-1835 at Burlington and died at Cleveland, OH 2-22-1905. He was son of Seth Upson. His only formal education was the usual one granted to a farmers son of that time. In early life he married Miss Chloe Moses of Burlington, she preceded him in death by three years. They had six children, two died in infancy and three lived to survive him. They were Dennis and William of Cleveland and a married daughter, Mrs. Mary Upson Rose, also of Cleveland.

Mr. Upson's remains were brought back to Unionville and he was buried in the Hillside Cemetery in Unionville. Two years later, his children had a huge monument placed on his grave. It was a twenty-five ton granite block, beautifully designed. It took the combined efforts of fifteen men, a steam roller and four large draft horses to move it from Plainville Railroad Station to Unionville, a distance of about eight miles. It required six hours to transport the huge stone over the Farmington trolley bridge, which was used in preference to the traffic bridge as it was more substantial. This was accomplished after the midnight trolley had completed its run.

The monument was quarried by the Presbrey Coykendall Company of Barre, VT. After arriving at the cemetery a roadbed of large timbers was constructed running into the cemetery. The huge monument was then taken from the truck and placed on large rolls and drawn up the hill, several hundred feet to the family plot, by the use of horses and tackle blocks. It took seven to eight days to get the stone located, it was afterwards inscribed and a statue placed thereon.

UPSON, DELIGHT(Beecher) 5-1-1901, Celebrated her 100th birthday. Mrs. Upson daughter of Mr. & Mrs. John Beecher was born in Wolcott, 5-17-1801. She is the only survivor of eight, five boys & three girls. For a number of years she taught school. When 28 she married Marcus H.Upson, a year later moved to Burlington. There were no children. She possessed an exceedingly fine set of teeth until about two years ago, when they began to drop out. She prides herself in never having a tooth ache, a decayed tooth, or even ever employing a dentist. She also relates of a superstition which existed years ago and which she asserts she complied with. It is said that if a person bit a snake from head to tail he or she would always have sound teeth. Consequently a brother captured a snake and held it by head and tail while she did the rest. Her health is excellent. Aside from deafness her faculties are only slightly impaired. Mrs. Upson died in 5-12-1904, age 102, the oldest woman in the state. Her husband died in 1864. Burial in Center Cemetery, Burlington, CT.

VALENTINE, PLESENT F. 67, who was very well known in Collinsville and New Hartford, died Tuesday afternoon at his home in Nepaug of cancer 1-5-1915. Mr. Valentine was born in Richmond, VA on 12-22-1848, and at the age of 14, being a large boy of his age, he was able to join the Confederate army, having run away from home to do so. He served as a regular soldier for about a year and a half, and was in a number of battles, but always escaped injury. He deserted to the Union Army but was not regularly enrolled as he was too young but did serve as a cook for the 20th Connecticut Regiment, until the close of the war and was mustered out with his regiment in Hartford and received an honorable discharge. After some time spent in Hartford he became a farm hand and was successively employed by Charles Adams in Bloomfield, one year, Milo Holcomb, Burlington, one year, & then by members of the Adams family in Bloomfield and the Holcomb family in Burlington, a number of years passed in this manner. He was married 8-5-1874 to Mrs. Agatha Arnold of New Hartford, (5-11-1849 3-?-1908) and they bought the Spencer farm in Nepaug and lived on it for 18 years. Later he bought the Clark farm in Nepaug, about half a mile from the Spencer farm and here he lived for 22 years, until last fall, when he went back to his former home, to live with his daughter Mrs. Conrad Vienot. Mrs. Valentine died about 7 years ago. He is survived by 5 children, Wallace, whose whereabouts are not known, Mrs. Edward Katzung of Collinsville, Mrs. Conrad Vienot & Francis P. Valentine of Nepaug, & Mrs. Arthur Williams of Sheffield. There are also two step children, Mrs. Mary Scheidel & Julius G. Horn of Burlington. The number of grandchildren are 14. He is also survived by 5 brothers, or was the last that he heard from them, Samuel, Tilman, Obe, Lee & Wallie Valentine, all of Richmond VA & one sister Clara also of Richmond. His business of late years had been getting out lumber and burning charcoal. It is safe to conclude that not another case of a man who enlisted in the Confederate army and was honorably discharged from the Union army can be found in Connecticut today. Burial in Hillside Cemetery, Collinsville, CT (1-1915)

WARREN, Ed, 79, world renowned paranormal researcher and ghost hunter of Monroe, died on Wednesday, (August 23, 2006) at his home with his beloved wife of 61 years, Lorraine Moran Warren by his side. Born on September 7, 1926 in Bridgeport, Mr. Warren was half of the husband and wife team of "Ed and Lorraine Warren, Seekers of the Supernatural." The team was often asked to assist in numerous police investigations involving satanic ritualistic murders, and were in high demand by hundreds of colleges and universities to speak on the subject of the supernatural. Mr. Warren was a U. S. Navy veteran of World War II having served in both the Pacific and European Theatres. After his military service, Mr. Warren attended Art School and sold many of his paintings, mostly depictions of haunted houses and New England winter scenes. Mr. Warren and his wife, Lorraine, have co-authored ten books on the subject of the supernatural. Two of the books were made into made for television movies, "The Demon Murder Case" and "The Haunted". They were among only a handful of investigators asked to investigate the Amityville Horror Case, and were consultants on the first Amityville Horror film. Mr. Warren was one of only seven religious demonologists in the nation. Ed was also an avid animal lover and advocate, having rescued numerous animals over the years. When once asked if he feared death, Mr. Warren remarked, "No, I don't fear it, not one iota, I know I'll be going to a beautiful place, a place so spectacular it defies words. As Jackie Gleason once said, when asked the same question, why should I fear it? I'm going to die anyway." In addition to his wife, Mr. Warren is survived by a daughter, Judy Spera and her husband, Tony of New Milford; two grandchildren, Heather Valentine and her husband, Greg of Conestoga, PA, and Christopher McKinnell of Lititz, PA; four great grandchildren, Cory, Kyle and Brianna Denlinger, and Michael McKinnell; and numerous nieces, nephews and friends. ### CREMATIONS

December 9, 1997 marks the 205th anniversary of the cremation of colonial statesman Henry Laurens near Charleston, SC -- the first formal flame-out on American soil. These days cremation is all the rage, with 22% of Americans choosing it over burial. According to Jack Springer, head of the Cremation Association of North America; --

In ancient Rome only the rich were cremated. Christians did away with the practice because of the doctrine of bodily resurrection. The Catholic Church only recently permitted ashes to be present at funeral masses. "When Hindus are cremated in America, the eldest son pushes the button on the crematory, just as he would light the funeral pyre."

Between 1875 and 1900 there were fewer than 5,000 cremations in the US. "Hardly anyone was cremated before 1930. There were few crematoriums, and it was looked on as bizarre."

Only 25% of cremated Americans have their ashes scattered; the rest are either buried (55%) or placed in a niche in a columbarium (20%)

The ashes of Timothy Leary and "Star Trek" creator Gene Roddenberry went into space on board a US satellite. Other fun ways to scatter: Pacific Memorials in Los Angeles mixes ashes into fireworks (818-704-0165); Canuck's Sportsman's Memorials in Des Moines stuffs them into shotgun shells. (515-244-8631).

Earlier this year the ashes of Mark Gruenwald, an editor at Marvel Comics, were put into the ink of a single-volume comic series called Squadron Supreme. It's available at comic book stores for $25.00

CREMATORIUMS

Cedar Hill Crematory in Hartford has 3 retorts or furnaces. About 30 percent of people who die in Connecticut are cremated, although the national average is 26 percent. The Cremation Association of North America estimates that by 2025 more than 65 percent of the state's deceased will be cremated, compared with 50 percent nationwide. Some reasons; it is cheaper, and a cremation takes up less room, the ashes can be easily transported, even by mail.

The retort interior is long and skinny like a pizza oven. The cremation at 1,600 degrees takes about two hours including cooling. The remains, about 5 to 9 pounds of ash and bone fragments are then swept into a tray with a steel brush where a magnet is used to pick out any metal, sometimes, even a nail might be found, then they are pulverized, ready to be placed in an urn. Hartford Courant, 3-30-2003

First known death in Burlington, 1743.

BRADLEY, WENTWORTH, Maplelawn the home of Mr. & Mrs. of Whigville, together with the entire contents were destroyed by fire. Mr. Bradley purchased the place about 3 years ago. The entire loss is estimated at $1,000. (1900)

BUNNELL, OTIS G. of Burlington, who has been living abroad during the past year, has started from Paris France, upon an extended tour through Algiers, Tunis, Malta, Egypt, the Holy Land, Syrian Coast, Greece, Turkey, Turkey in Asia, Servia, Austria, Hungary and Germany. (1898)

DOWD, JOHN F. & Mrs. had a 40th wedding anniversary on 10-19-1916. They were married in Harwinton, 10-12-1876 by Rev. George E. Curtis, pastor of that Congregational Church. Mrs. Dowd, before her marriage was Miss Caroline Butler of Burlington. They lived several years in Burlington and have a host of friends. They have one son Clifford B. Dowd of Simsbury. A buffet lunch was served.

CHAUNCEY, CHAUNCEY R. 79, a veteran of the Mexican & Civil Wars, died in his home in Charles Street, Tuesday night. He lived in Westfield, Mass. nearly 50 years. During the Civil War he was a captain in the 34th Mass. Regt. and has ever since borne the title. He leaves no family.

CURTIS, CORNELIUS is a well to do farmer in Burlington, where he holds the esteem of a large circle of friends. He is the brother of Austin Curtis, a large real estate owner in this place. Papers were served on the man, who is about 60 years old, by Sheriff Morse today in a divorce proceeding brought against him by his wife, Effie Curtis. Intolerable cruelty is the charge and ex-senator N.E. Pierce is her counsel. "Mr. Curtis is one of the most respected men in the community," says a prominent Burlington man to night, "and if there is domestic intranquility I believe it arises from the fact that Mrs. Curtis is much younger than he and old age and youth do not always harmonize, you know." (Globe, 6-8-1901)

ELTON, JAMES, of Whigville and Mrs. celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary, 10-14-1910. Mr. & Mrs. Elton have been residents of the Whigville district for considerably more than a generation. They were married in West Burlington, Pa. Mr. Elton has been a farmer and a quiet, industrious citizen.

Mr. Elton is an old time whaler, one of the few that are now remaining who used to sail out of the port of New London when it was a famous whaling center. He was born in Bristol 77 years ago, the son of Alonzo Elton of this place, who died many years ago (1896). He passed his early years here and developed early a strong liking for the sea. His parents were not particularly pleased with the idea of their boy becoming a sailor, but the call of the waves proved too much, so at the age of 18 he ran away to New London. He walked most of the way, and shipped out on the ship "New England". It was the first and last voyage he ever made, but it lasted 3 years. They visited the South Seas, crossed the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. When they sailed into New London harbor they had 2,800 barrels of sperm & whale oil on board. This was secured on the co-operation plan, profits. These didn't turn out to be very heavy, for young Elton as his share of the three years cruise got only $76. The oil brought $2.00 a barrel, however, so somebody made quite a bunch of money out of the trip.

GILLETTE, SAMUEL E. married Miss Myra Curtis 12-2-1903. The couple reside on the Gillette farm on Milford Street.

GILLETTE, WILBUR LUCKY, formerly of Burlington, now Yalesville and Miss. Maida Green, a daughter of John Green of Burlington, were married. (1908) 1-18-1859 3-26-1944. Burial in Center Cemetery, Burlington, Conn.

GREGORY, WILLIAM, married Miss Clara Austin of Bristol. (1893)

HANNA, GEORGE, his wife, and their two small daughters, had a thrilling escape from death in a fire which destroyed their home in Whigville. About 1 o'clock Mr Hanna was awakened by the roar of flames in the next room. He jumped out of bed and awakened his wife and littler daughters, 8 & 10 years old. By that time the flames had spread so that escape by the stairway was cut off. He smashed the glass from a window in their room, which was on the second floor, threw a mattress out, and jumped out on the mattress. Then Mrs. Hanna threw the two children to him and he caught them. Then Mrs. Hanna jumped, landing on the mattress safely, but she cut her foot on a piece of glass in the window sash. The wound was later dressed by Dr. Curtiss. The house, which was a large frame structure was entirely destroyed, with its contents. The barn, which contained the live stock and farming implements, was saved by the hard work of the neighbors.

Mr. Hanna and his family, who were clad only in their nightclothes, were cared for by their neighbors. There was only small insurance on the house and none on the furniture. The loss to Mr. Hanna is more than $3,000. The house has been known for years as the old Mills homestead, was considerably over a century old, and was formerly the home of ex-selectman Dwight Mills. (Bristol Press 12-18-1910)

HARTIGAN, WILLIAM HORTON, (1913) A wedding in the home of Mr. & Mrs. Carl Wagner in Burlington when their daughter Miss Gertrude Marie Wagner was married to William Horton Hartigan of Burlington Station. The reception took place at the Woodland hotel owned by the Hartigan family. The Wagner family are comparatively new in Burlington, coming from New Jersey. The Hartigan family is one of the oldest ones in Burlington. The bride has a sister Miss Margaret Frieda Wagner.

HINMAN, EMMA, Mrs. of Burlington announced the engagement of her youngest daughter Miss Harriet Belle to Rev. James McAllister of Cape Colony, South Africa. Miss Hinman graduated from the Collinsville High school in 1904 and later from the New York school of art, and for the past three years has been supervisor of art in Mt. Holyoke College Wellington Cape Colony and has been much interested in missionary work. Mr. McAllister, is a well known missionary, evangelist and preacher in the colony.

LAMSON, SAMUEL, Mr. & Mrs. celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Among those present were Mrs. Emily B. Sessions, widow of John Humphrey Sessions of Bristol. The Lamson's were married in Burlington by Rev. Mr. Wright, pastor of the Congregational Church, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. & Mrs. Calvin Sessions. The couple have lived in Southington and Cleveland Ohio, and about 20 years ago returned to their old home in this town. Mr. Lamson is 79 years old. His brother is Isaac Lamson, the wealthy Cleveland manufacturer, who with Samuel Sessions has built a great business in that city. Mrs. Lamson is a sister of John Humphrey Sessions, who established the great industries that have made the name of Conn. famous. Mr. Lamson's two sisters were also present, Mrs. Isaac T. Rowe and Mrs. Darius Campbell, both of Burlington. The couple have two children, Frank E. head clerk at the Sessions Foundry in Bristol and Fred who lives with his parents.

MOSES, ADRIAN, in the old house in which he was born 75 years ago, Adrian Moses celebrated with his wife their 50th wedding anniversary. The house has been in the Moses family for considerably over a century. Mr. Moses is an expert on timber, and his farm is considered best in the vicinity. They were married at Nepaug 5-5-1863. Adrian was born 3-21-1838, the son of Richard Moses & Rachel Norton. He has for a long time bought large tracts of land and cut off the timber, working it into ties for railroad purposes, and he supplies the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company with probably more ties than anybody else in Connecticut. During last winter he has furnished this company over 14,000 ties, and he is at present cutting off a tract of land that he cut 47 years ago. His wife was Clarinda Beckwith, daughter of Isaac Beckwith of Nepaug, where she was born 7-2-1841. They have two children, A.A. Moses who lives with his parents, and Mrs. (Henrietta) Edwin Matthews of Whigville. (Hartford Courant, 5-5-1913)

MOSES, BERNARD, Prof. who since 1876 has been the professor of history & political economy in the University of California, was born in Burlington in 1846. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and a Ph. D. of Heidelberg.

NORTON, CHARLES, married Miss Mary L. Stone. They will occupy apartments at the home of Luther Norton, in Burlington. (1-26-1898)

NORTON, FRANKLIN, 53, died 8-23-1862.
