White bike #2 & Blue/Orange hike Loop
Class 1
3.8 miles
800' vertical
1.9 hours
50% bike trail

The W blaze is a painted white rectangle marking the original very well engineered mountain bike trail. Hikers should respect this trail by stepping aside to allow any bikers pass. Bikers should also respect the hiking trails, by using only the 100% bike or 100% combo loops.

The traditional hiking B/Y blazes painted blue with a yellow dot are now being replaced with blue plastic rectangles that have a yellow rectangle at the bottom. The B/O blazes have been replaced with blue plastic rectangles that have an orange rectangle at the bottom.

The hike begins at the Stone Road parking lot ($41^{\circ}45'19.1"N\ 72^{\circ}56'23.8"W$), 0.3 miles south of the stop sign at George Washington Turnpike. Starting at the trail kiosk, follow the White (W) bike trail south, crossing the Blue/Yellow (B/Y) trail at 0.5 miles and then passing the junction with the White/Red (W/R) bike trail at 0.7 miles. Continue on the W, passing the start of the White/Green (W/G) at 1.2 miles. At 1.5 you cross over the W/G and at 1.7 you reach the sign at the end of the W/B. At 1.8 you pass the junction at the end of the W/G bike trail and at 2.1 miles you reach the junction with the Blue/Orange (B/O) hiking trail. Turn left (east) as the W & B/O follow next to each other for 0.1 miles. When the W trail turns southwest, stay on the B/O hiking trail marked with B/O plastic rectangle markers. Ascend through the ravine called The Devil's Kitchen and continue to the end of the B/O trail. Turn right (east) and follow the B/Y trail to Stone Road and then back to your car.
